EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 29th, 1900

PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, June 21, 1900.

Almost the whole of Friday's sitting was occupied by discussions in connection with the arranging for a committee to investigate the charge made by Mr. Monk of culpable neglect against the minister of militia in regard to the emergency rations supplied to the second contingent in South Africa. This is the fourth business day of the session which has been occupied by this question, the settlement of which depends not upon the discussions which have taken place but on the evidence which will be placed before the committee appointed on Friday. Although Mr. Monk's allegations were met by a flat denial, when he made a formal charge and demanded a committee of investigation, it was granted at once, and all the discussion and discussions which took place were outside of the point at issue, upon which indeed there was no room for discussion, for once Mr. Monk made his charges definite and demanded a committee, the government was not in a position to refuse it even had they so desired.

It is a pity that Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper in his attacks on the Yukon administration has not followed the example of Mr. Monk. Instead of making wild allegations and long speeches if he had worked up his case to a point where he could specifically charge the minister with neglect of duty and then demand a committee of enquiry his position would be strong and the time lost would be saved. Although he has alleged all kinds of irregularities in the administration of the Yukon and insinuated the connection of the minister of interior with these irregularities he has never yet made the necessary specific charges against the minister that would enable him to demand a committee of enquiry. For this reason his constant harping on the alleged Yukon scandals has become tiresome and his allegations do not receive that attention which possibly their importance merits. Monday was almost entirely taken up by the discussion of one of these alleged scandals, namely, the permission to Alex. McDonald, the so-called Klondike King to hold back the royalties due by him for a period of six months. This was an old story and attracted very little attention although the discussion was kept up at great length and with some spirit.

In the railway committee on Tuesday morning the application of a second company to build a railway between Toronto and Collingwood was thrown out. A company was chartered some little time ago to build a road from Toronto to Collingwood, then a rival company which had opposed the granting of the first charter came in and demanded as fair play and a matter of legitimate competition they should also be granted a charter. The committee took the ground that while competition as a rule is a very good thing there are times when what is apparently competition is really strangulation; and that the duplication of railway charters over the same route is one of these cases. To charter two companies to build over the same route is a general thing means that neither one of the companies will build. The application was therefore refused.

There is some talk of the session being brought to a close about the end of the present month, but there is very little prospect of this in view of the large amount of business yet to be done and the persistent efforts of the opposition to dig up scandals at any cost of time. From present appearances the session can scarcely end before the middle of July.

The grain bill is now before the senate, and an attempt is being made to introduce an amendment to provide that wherever elevators have cleaning apparatus it is the privilege of the seller to demand that his grain be cleaned before it is weighed, the idea being to prevent any dispute as to dockage for dirt. The cleanings from the grain are returned to the seller, who incurs a penalty if he does not destroy the remaining power of the seeds. In this way it is hoped to avoid absolutely the continual disputes between buyer and seller as to the amount of dirt in the grain, thereby removing the sense of injustice under which the seller, being largely at the mercy of the buyer, has hitherto labored. There was a provision in the bill in case of disputes for samples to be taken and submitted to the inspector at Winnipeg; but this was thought to be a theoretical rather than a practical remedy. It is distinctly to the interest of the seller that the grain should be thoroughly cleaned before being absolutely disposed of by him. If there are three pounds of dirt in a bushel of grain the seller is docked only three pounds, if the buyer ships the grain to Fort William without its being cleaned he pays freight on three pounds of dirt for which he gets no value, therefore he must dock the seller not only the actual amount of dirt in the grain but also the value of the freight on the dirt to Fort William if he proposes to come out even; that is provided the grain is shipped without being cleaned. In view of this fact it was intended to require the placing of machinery for cleaning in all elevators, but so much objection was made to this as being an interference with the rights of private property that it was deemed necessary to drop that feature and restrict the bill to compelling the use of cleaning machinery where it now exists (at the request of the seller) with a further provision that in all elevators to be erected hereafter cleaning machinery shall be introduced. The amendments are being introduced in the senate by the secretary of state and may be expected to pass, but are being strongly opposed by Senator Watson, of Manitoba, in the interests of the grain men, who have been successful in defeating the principle of competition in the grain bill and are now anxious to defeat the principle of regulation which at first they offered in exchange for the competition demanded by the people.

On Tuesday Premier Laurier informed the house in reply to a question by Sir Chas. Tupper that the government was considering the subject of aiding in the Indian famine. The vote on Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper's motion to give parliamentary representation to the Yukon was defeated by a vote of 72 to 46, the government taking the stand that in view of the almost immediate taking of the census it was better to leave the question of representation until the question of population upon which the representation rested should be definitely settled. In the meantime, however, commencing with July 1st, the Yukon people will be given two representatives in the local council, which levies local taxation and attends to local affairs generally. During the discussion on this subject Tupper the member for Winnipeg, put in a claim for increased representation in that city.

THE TAKU FORTS

A military exert gives the following description of the Chinese fortifications at Taku recently captured by the allied war vessels of the civilized powers.

Taku is situated at the mouth of the Pei-Ho, on the southern bank, about 67 miles from Tien Tsin, with which it is connected by railroad. It is noted for the three engagements that have taken place there between the British and the Chinese. Part of the Tien Tsin army corps has modern organization, drill and arms, and is stationed at the Taku forts. Between Taku and Tien Tsin, the centre of the defence and chief arsenal of Northern China, are permanent camps, where there are usually 30,000 troops, infantry, cavalry, and artillery, armed with Mauser rifles and Krupp guns. The forts also carry Mauser carbines. These troops have been well instructed for 10 or 12 years by foreign officers. The armament of the Taku forts consists of very heavy Krupp guns, and the approaches to the forts from the Gulf of Pechili are very difficult. The fortifications consist of three forts, a large one on the right bank and two smaller ones on the left. All the forts are armed with numerous guns of the most varied systems and calibres. In the construction of the forts the masonry of the coast was used, which in the dry season becomes cracked and crumbles very easily, and the garrison is continually making repairs. In Taku are the materials for closing up the mouth of the Pei-Ho. All the coast fortifications have mines. The instructions sent to Admiral Kempff relative to his participation in the seizure of the Taku forts were broad, consisting of a direction to protect all American interests, and to that end to act concurrently with the representatives of the other powers.

In the opinion of the authorities this order conferred upon Admiral Kempff ample power to seize forts, to fight, or to do anything in fact on the sole condition that in his judgment his acts would tend to the protection of American interests. It was learned at the British embassy recently that there were two British admirals in the Pei-Ho river, Admiral Seymour and Admiral Bruce. Therefore, Tauszig's reference to the arrival of the British admiral at Tien Tsin does not mean necessarily that Seymour has returned with his foreign command.

WAR NOTES.

Lord Roberts' dispatches show that the east of Pretoria to be that the Boers had withdrawn to new positions and Tuesday and the British are following them up. Fresh fighting is expected by the war office, though no news came of any last night.

A despatch from Lorenzo Marques dated yesterday says: "Persons who have arrived here have seen the preparations of the Boers, who it is learned, will retire, when forced, through the Lydenburg district into the Zululand region, adjoining Rhodesia." The Daily Mail by a despatch from Bloemfontein dated Wednesday, says that Commandant Dewet's attack on the railway was made after he had succeeded in burning Methuen from where he destroyed the line. Then he cleverly seized it north of Kroonstad, blew up the bridge and destroyed a section of the line by dynamite.

U. S. CROP PROSPECTS.

This has been a cold backward spring, too wet in some places and too dry in others, and, although the season is still young, it is probably safe to say that record-breaking yields of most crops are not to be expected even if they were desirable, which, in view of the south's experience with cotton last year, would seem not altogether certain. It will be remembered that last year's cotton crop was 20 per cent short of that made in 1898, and yet the actual money return was considerably larger than for years past. It may be, also, that nature in spite of herself will neutralizing much of the immense increase in acreage by lowered crop conditions, though it may be hard to point out this favorable side of the crop situation to the wheat growers of the central west and northwest and the cotton growers of Texas.

The June 1 report of Statistician Hyde of the department of agriculture confirms the expectations, based upon weather and damage reports from the west, that much of the enormous area planted in wheat will prove unprofitable. It shows a further reduction of the area under cultivation in winter wheat of 1,676,000 acres from the May 1 figures, bringing the aggregate acreage devoted to this cereal down to 24,908,000 acres, or a reduction to 5,240,000 acres. Coincident with this elimination of a vast quantity of wheat growing land which has been entirely abandoned, the average condition of winter wheat throughout the entire belt declined during May 6 points, the condition on June 1 being only 82.7, against 83.9 on May 1, 67.3 on June 1, 1899, 90.8 at the same date in 1898 and a ten-year average of 83.7. While these figures show a much better average condition now than one year ago, and likewise point to a condition higher than the ten years average by nearly 2 per cent, they fall far short of confirming early expectations of an immense yield of winter wheat, which ordinarily constitutes about two-thirds of the entire production. This falling off is mainly due to the heavy decrease in the central-western states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and the area remaining in winter wheat in the central west must certainly have been immensely reduced.

Touching the other cereal crops it might be said that an indicated increase in acreage in oats over the area harvested last year is reported, of nearly 4 per cent. As regards condition of oats, it is placed at 91.7 per cent on June 1, a gain over a year ago and an increase over the ten-year average likewise. An increased area is also reported in barley, but the condition is placed at 86.3, against 91.4 a year ago and against a ten-year average of 88.5. In view of the bad area condition is placed at 87.6, as compared with 84.5 on June 1 a year ago.

WOUNDED AT PARADEBB.

Privates H. E. Durant, of Montreal and H. E. Frodsham, of Fredericton, arrived at Halifax on the 18th by the steamer Siberian. Both are members of Company G, first Canadian contingent, and they were among the wounded. Durant is crippled for life, having had an arm and leg broken, and Frodsham was shot through the groin. Both speak highly of Lord Roberts, who visited them at the Wyndham hospital and shook hands with them. "We will have them yet, boys," remarked England's Field Marshall, as he warmly grasped the Canadians' hands.

An Ottawa despatch of the 20th says: There are prospects that the house may finish business by the end of the month.

Reports from the orient during the past week concerning the disturbances there have been meagre and obscure in their purport and to a degree conflicting. That there is a measure of danger to the lives and property of foreigners in the interior of China, or indeed in any part of Northern China at a distance from the gunboats of the civilized powers is certain, but the extent of the depredations of the "Boxers" is as yet unknown. A Japanese report says that 1,500 foreigners have been massacred at Tien Tsin. This, however, in the present strained relations between the two powers may be partial or a fabrication, but a London despatch of June 22nd, said it was understood that the admiralty were in receipt of a despatch from the British admiral in Chinese waters on the subject of the damage done to the foreign concessions at Tien Tsin. A despatch from Capt. Brown, of an American gunboat, at Chee Foo on June 18th, said that Tien Tsin had been bombarded and that the situation in Peking was serious, adding that Hokies, Brown and King, three missionaries, were saved. The inference is that the remaining twenty-four were massacred. A Shanghai despatch says the bombardment of Tien Tsin was done by Chinese regulars and not by boxers. The degree to which the outrages shall be carried depends largely on the attitude of the Chinese government, which still maintains protestations of hostility to the troublesome society, and which is currently reported to be in league with it. Reports from Admiral Seymour's relief force are conflicting, one report stating that his force had reached Peking simultaneously with the Russian column, and another that lack of harmony among the troops comprising his force had necessitated his giving up the project.

A COMMUNICATION.

Editor Bulletin.
Dear Sir: When I corrected your Turin lake correspondent's statement, saying the Belmont Presbyterian church building committee had disagreed in locating a site, I had no intention of entering on a newspaper controversy. As a member of that committee and one of those appointed to solicit subscriptions therefor, I merely registered an assertion which in justice to myself and the other members, I feel to be inaccurate.

I now find in your issue of the 22nd inst., a reply, and signed A. Hartley, claiming his remarks could only be obtained in a quibbling way; though I fail to understand what he means by quibbling as I had no desire nor intention to evade anything. I merely stated a fact which Mr. Hartley knows to be true, as he was present at the meeting held in Belmont school house, where by a resolution put to the meeting, and almost carried unanimously the location of a site was disposed of. The right to locate a site was not vested in the committee, therefore they could not have a valid reason to disagree on it.

Mr. Hartley asks a very pertinent question: "Why if the site is satisfactory to the people is the church not built?" I might as well ask Mr. Hartley: "Now that the bridge is built why have we not the railway into Edmonton?"

I do not know who Mr. Hartley's authority is which he claims to be quite as good as mine, but I may inform Mr. Hartley that I have yet to learn wherein the said site is unsatisfactory to the people. Everyone who knows the country must admit it is as central as could be acquired to meet the requirements of Poplar Lake, Belmont and Turin lake, and I venture to assert as easy of access to all concerned as any other site that could be chosen, and although Mr. Hartley says he does not accept my remarks as the reason leading therefor, for his benefit I may tell him that the road leading from Belmont through Little Mountain to the correction line is the only one in the two districts where it is possible to take a vehicle over the entire distance and remain on the road allowance. This has been done on this road with a load of grain within a week at least over the worst portion of it and that is through the mountain, and there is not even a culvert built on this road in township 54.

As to Mr. Hartley's remarks that one of the members of the committee refused to act as a protest against building on this site, to say the least, about it I think it was very imprudent of Mr. Hartley to publish such as I never heard a wish expressed that such a protest would be recorded and I attended all the meetings held by the committee.

As far as this controversy is concerned I will have no more to say upon it. JAMES McDONALD, Poplar Lake, 24th June, 1900.

RIVIERE QUI BARRE

The farmers of Riviere Qui Barre are in excellent humor, as they anticipate that crops will be considerably above the average of the past two or three years. Green crops are very promising, much above the average of last year, while the potato crop is all that could be desired. The weather has been most favorable.

Look out for Camilla pie-nio, July 25th, as the overseer is getting the roads in fine shape.

J. T. Ryan, of Camilla, has two sulky plows busy, as he has 125 acres to summer fallow.

CAPE NOME'S NEW PAPER.

To hand from Harry Anthony is a copy of the "Nome Gold Digger," of May 3rd, a four column journal issued in the great mining camp of Western Alaska. Local news fills most of the columns fresh telegraphic items being apparently somewhat scarce. The moderate subscription rate of the Digger is $12 per year, single copies costing 25c. Concerning the gold output for Cape Nome, the Digger says:

"The product of gold this year here will undoubtedly be much greater than last, because there will be the finest of improved machinery in use, and all kinds of machinery. The season is also several weeks earlier. Besides this there is the greatest confidence in the country, and this will cause people to take hold with vigor. More gold has already been taken out on Decker creek than was taken out all last summer. The same is reported true of Rock creek. There are 13 or 14 claims there, and last year only one was worked. On Dry creek nothing was done last year. There will be this year. On Anvil and Snow also, it is estimated the gold product will be a great deal more than it was last year. In the Golovin, Denbigh, Bonanza and other districts there will also be a heavy product of gold. Last year the Cape Nome mining district, produced, as shown by the reports of the San Francisco and Seattle mints, $2,280,000 in gold. There should be produced this year many times as much. In the opinion of the best informed, not a quarter was taken out on Anvil creek last year that will be this year. As to the beach hereabouts, where $1 was taken out last year, in the opinion of good judges, $10 will be produced this year. The machinery and the enormous number of men at work, will make the difference. The Topkok country is also very rich, as are other parts of the beach."

Monday, the 19th of May, had been a good letter day at Nome, as the first spring boat from the outside world arrived that day. The Digger celebrated the occasion by a "digger" edition.

MARKETS.

On the local market new vegetables are coming in plentifully, beets, carrots and turnips being the main lines offered. Apples are beginning to arrive. The strawberry season is nearly past, and raspberries are expected in a few days. Oats are not noticeably higher, but a most gratifying raise has been made in the price of wheat.

The following are the prices current: Apples 12 1/2 c per lb. Cheese 15 c per lb. Oats 20 to 22 c per bushel. Potatoes 25 c per bushel. Green onions 12 bunches per $1.00. New beets 12 bunches per $1.00. New carrots 12 bunches per $1.00. New turnips 12 bunches per $1.00. Wheat—Dowling's not buying—price about 60c.

Ian Hamilton was given a reception of Heidelberg, by crowded streets decorated with bunting.

Strathcona's Horse have succeeded in blowing up the bridge over which the railway from Pretoria crosses the Koonad river on the way to Leduc. The railway is in the hands of the Marquis. This is turning the proverbial custom of the hero and breaking the bridges behind the enemy, and if the crossing can be held by strong enough force it will probably effectively cut off the Boer retreat to the sea.
